MONDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 27, 1848.

[No. 5843.]

American Citizen. His career of glory through life was unstained by crime; and his death was felt as a loss by every individual of that community, whose political existence was the fruit of his exertions.

THE FAREWELL ADDRESS of General Washington is the condensed result of long experience, matured reflection and strong anxiety for the permanent prosperity of his country. His advice concerning the great importance of maintaining indissolubly the federal Union; the danger of indulging too much in party feelings; the necessity of supporting public credit at home;—of maintaining public faith in all our transactions with foreign nations; of encouraging foreign intercourse free from foreign attachments;—are so many lessons of prudence which we should do well to bear in constant remembrance. Why therefore should not his legacy of wisdom and affection, be so published, as to admit of being constantly before our eyes? An ornament to our apartments, while it serves as a memento to guide our public feelings, and to manifest that the author lives in our memories?

To make it such, is the aim of the proposed Edition. The Publishers are determined that the Address shall be printed on paper of the same quality and size as the splendid edition of the Declaration of Independence now engraving, & shall in all respects be a companion worthy that great State paper.

As errors are known from various causes to find their way into the most important writings, the publishers feel it their duty, not only to satisfy themselves, but to satisfy the public, of the authenticity of the copy from which this splendid Edition of the Farewell Address shall be published.

MR. GEORGE BEIDPORT will complete the Design; of which the following is an outline:—The introductory part of the Address, in highly finished ornamental penmanship, shall form the upper part;—the other parts of the plate, shall be appropriate ornaments;—in the centre below shall be engraved, from an historical design for this publication by Mr. Sully the Surrender of the British Army at Yorktown, October 19, 1781.

The Address itself shall be printed with type of a peculiar and a proper character, designed for this purpose by Mr. Fairman, and to be cut and cast by our best artists. No more of the type shall be cast than will be necessary to execute this Address; & when it shall be completed, the type and the matrices in which it was cast shall be utterly destroyed; so that no other work shall ever be executed by the same letter which shall have printed the "FAREWELL ADDRESS" of him who lived and died, first in War; first in Peace, and first in the hearts of his Countrymen.

The paper, of the first quality, 36 by 26 inches, will be made by Mr. Amies. The ink shall be carefully prepared, and of the best materials.

The signature of General Washington from which it is proposed to execute a fac simile for this publication, is that which he affixed to the Constitution of the United States, when he signed it as President of the Convention in which it was framed; thus associating and concentrating some of the greatest events in the life of this great man and in the history of his Country.

The ornamental writing will be designed and executed in the very best manner; and the ornamental parts of the design and vignette, will be engraved by G. FAIRMAN; and the Typographical part executed by John Biana. They will take especial care of the execution of their several duties in this respect, and they will call to their aid, all that liberality, zeal and industry can command from the Sciences and Arts, so as to make the "Farewell Address" no mean specimen of the state of the Fine Arts in the United States.

As much progress has already been made in designing and procuring materials for this splendid edition of Gen. Washington's "Farewell Address," it is expected it will be ready for delivery, with the Splendid Edition of the Declaration of Independence, in the month of December next. That the public may have a more perfect view of the design and style of execution, than can be given in a proposal, of this Tribute to the memory of him who was "a Conqueror for the Freedom of his Country! A Legislator for its Security! A Magistrate for its Happiness," it is not intended to solicit any Subscriptions until the Ornamental parts of the plate shall be executed. It will then be submitted for public inspection and public patronage, at five dollars a Copy, payable on the delivery of the Engraving. Philadelphia, July 31.

ROMULUS RIGGS.
AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns.—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 19.

Baltimore Hospital.
24th August, 1848. THE board of visitors have most pleasure in announcing to the public, that within the last eighteen months, a large and elegant addition has been made to this valuable institution, in the erection of the East wing of the building. This wing is 152 feet in length and 36 in width, with an extensive Southern projection at its extreme East end. It contains between 30 and 40 apartments, admirably calculated for the accommodation of every class of patients. Of this number are several large and airy wards, intended particularly for the reception of seamen, and well adapted to their various diseases. These different rooms and wards will be warmed by open fires, and by heated air thrown into them, from furnaces constructed on a safe and improved plan. Arrangements will also soon be made, for lighting the apartments in the entire building, with gas.

The unwearied exertions of Doctors Mackenzie and Smyth, the attending Physicians of the Hospital, in their attention to the construction of the building, and their care of the sick, have given a character to this institution, which is now inferior to none in the United States. In the short space of six years, a most noble establishment has been erected—a thing without parallel in this country. It is well known, that above half a century has been consumed, in bringing the Hospitals of New-York and Philadelphia, to their present size, and it is admitted by many gentlemen, who have visited these institutions, that the Hospital here, is by far the most extensive; the whole building being now 360 feet in length.

The daily increase of the sick in the Hospital, renders it absolutely necessary that the new wing should be furnished; and every exertion is now making, to have it completed, before the cold weather shall set in.

The visitors at their late meeting, examined the institution with much care—the apartments of the sick in the private infirmary—those in the lunatic asylum—and the wards of the sick and disabled seamen in the Marine Hospital—and they asserted with confidence, that the sick and afflicted of every description are well accommodated and carefully attended. They have seen at their different meetings, the private patient comfortable; the wretched mariner humanely taken care of; and the sailor, disabled by age, wounds and sickness, well provided with suitable medical assistance, and with every other comfort which his condition may require. Indeed the agreeable situation in which this very useful class of men are placed, does much credit, as well to the Director of the Marine Hospital, as to the attending Physicians, to whose immediate care they are entrusted. Every praise too, which the visitors can bestow, is due to Mr. & Mrs. Gatchel, the Stewart and Matron of the Hospital, for the neat and clean manner in which the House is uniformly kept, and for their care and attention to the administration of the internal economy of the establishment.

Before they conclude this account of the Hospital, the visitors would invite the attention of their fellow citizens throughout the United States, to the Anatomical Cabinet of Wax Preparations, by Chiapari, which certainly far surpasses any thing of the kind ever exhibited in this country; and will afford to those whose curiosity may lead them to see how "fearfully and wonderfully they are made," but more especially to the medical student, a fund of useful information. The Hospital is under the care of the following medical gentlemen:

ABSCONDED from the subscriber's service, on Saturday night the 15th inst. Negro woman TREACE or TREACY—she is five feet two or three inches high, about 30 years of age, of a very dark complexion, and when particularly examined is very apt to confound herself.—It is deemed unnecessary to mention her clothing, as she has all of them with her, and being extremely artful, she no doubt will change them and endeavor to pass for a free woman. She is well acquainted in Charles county, Prince George's, Alexandria and the City, as about 5 years ago she made her escape, and was 6 or 7 months about the Lower Ferry, leading to Alexandria, and from thence to Washington City, where she acquired an extensive acquaintance among the Negroes belonging to John Brent, esq.; and the greater part of said Negroes belong now to William and Robert Brent, esqrs. and Mr. Dudley Digges. Negro Treace has a scar on the back part of her neck, occasioned by a season put for the benefit of her eyes, which are very weak at this time. I will give 10 dollars if taken in the county and secured as aforesaid, so that I get her again, 25 dollars, and all reasonable charges paid if brought home. All persons are forewarned harboring or employing said Negro at their peril, as the law will be rigorously put in force against any offender. THOMAS BURGESS. Charles co. French Creek Boarding School.

The following is published for the information of Parents:

HAVING long believed that a School on a plan different from most others in many respects, would be beneficial to society, and apprehending that with all its cares, and the responsibility inseparable from such a concern, I could more cheerfully devote my time to the education of children than to any other business, I have concluded to establish a BOARDING SCHOOL for GIRLS.—With this view I have purchased the FANNON CREEK FARM, four miles east of the yellow springs, on the Northern and Philadelphia road, situated in Pikeland and Vincent townships, Chester county, twenty-seven miles from Philadelphia; combining many conveniences for the support of such an institution; and having let the farm, etc. in a way calculated to supply the family with provisions, I propose to devote my attention, with the aid of suitable assistants, to the education of the children who may be placed under my care.

In selecting the pupils, it is not proposed to be governed entirely by their ages, nor to require that they shall all be members of the religious society of Friends; but as the school rules will be very few in number and very simple; it is my wish that none may be sent contrary to their own inclination, nor any one who would not be likely to be good examples to the other scholars, and treat them with kindness and affection.

The price for board and tuition will be two hundred Dollars per annum, one quarter always to be paid in advance.—no restrictions respecting the kind of clothing are intended, nor respecting the frequency of the changes that parents may require; the washing will be charged at the ordinary price per dozen.—children may be admitted for one quarter only, and such as are entered for a longer period, may nevertheless be removed at the expiration of any quarter.—The communication with Philadelphia will be frequent and easy by stage, and a house of entertainment kept by the farmer for the accommodation of persons having business at the school.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography and the use of Maps and globes, will be taught, together with such other branches as the progress of the children and experience may render expedient. The school to open the first of the 5th month next. For further information apply to Edward Stabler, Alexandria, or to RAMMOB KIMBER. 2d mo. 21.

ORIGINAL POETRY.

For the Alexandria Gazette.

AN ELEGIAC ODE,

TO THE MEMORY OF MAJ. GEN. ARTHUR ST. CLAIR.

Saw ye Columbia, when the first unfurl'd
The flag of Freedom to the astonished world?
Heard ye her voice, when rising to be free,
She pa'd her oath along her wide domains, While tyrant's trembled at her stern decree,
And from her limbs fell clanking her rent chains?

Mark'd ye the deeds of greatness by her done,
The fields she fought—the laurels that she won?
Heav'n! what a band heard then their country's call!

What mighty spirits throng'd around her car,
All light in council, and all fire in war, While Freedom smil'd, nor ask'd a surer wall!
Bright constellations, they rejoic'd to roll Round Washington, their centre, sun and soul.

Those days have follow'd in the march of time:
That sun has set; and each succeeding day Has seen those constellations fade away.

'Till few are left to glean along our clime, Faint was their light, and fainter still it glows Above the horizon's shades of long repose;
For now, St. Clair, thy spirit too has fled,
To join the concourse of illustrious dead.

And shall Columbia leave the brave, Who stemm'd for her the battle's wave,
From penury's hand to be rewarded?
Let patriots, heroes, live forlorn,
The prey of poverty and scorn,
And die unmourn'd and unregard'd?

Shall we behold, with tearless eye,
The fathers of our country die,
And from our hearts their memories sever?
Shall we not bid one flow'ry bloom,
One willow weep above the tomb,
Where sleeps the brave, to sleep forever
On pillow of stone, less cold and rude Than his country's base ingratitude?

If ever bard deserve the sacred name, If e'er he prove his origin divine,
'Tis when he gives the patriot's deeds to fame,
And chants a requiem o'er a hero's shrine.
In notes that thrill and sentiments that fire, No bard inspir'd, whose strains might pour a The anguish'd raptures of elegiac song? (long)

Fruit is the hap'p' hand has strung,
And few the notes my voice has sung;
But virtue must approve his care,
Who weaves a flow'ry wreath to grace A patriot's last long resting place, Though wither'd ere he hang it there.

While in the clear blue sky yon crescent keeps Her midnight vigil, as calm nature sleeps, Come thou with me, and let our footsteps lead Where lie the relics of the mighty dead.

Here, far removed from all the pageant show Of courtly grief, sad mockery of woe, Here, where we mark the end of mortal things, While solemn silence hangs on dewy wings, Here sleeps, beneath this new-raised earthly mound,

A chief of other days: 'Tis holy ground.
Approach ye not, whose breasts have never known
The great emotions, virtue stamps her own, Whose glassy eyes no burning woe can melt, For suffering worth, whose hearts have never Ye soulless sons of cold ingratitude, (felt) You laugh'd at woe, and mock'd when misery sued,

Far hence, nor curse, with sacrilegious tear,
The hero's memory, who reposes here.
But if compassion, child of heaven,
Has to your heart his influence given,
As mild as summer's balmy air:
If round it twine those mystic ties
Of man—the social sympathies,
And all the virtues centre there:
If others woe have power to thrill Your bosom's inmost core,
And pure as dew on Zion's hill, Bid sorrows current pour:
If you e'er felt the sacred flame In hero's heart that glows;
If you would emulate the fame,
The patriot only knows:
If in misfortune's bitter hour,
When storms of grief and trouble lower,
Your manly spirits never move;
Oh! let Religion's holy power Has raised your thoughts to things above—Then come and weep—for here his body lies Whose kindred soul has sought its native skies.

Illustrious chief, how cruel were thy lot,
To live neglected and to die forgot!
Thy wrongs are past. The sons of future days Shall crown thy memory with immortal bays.
When time has hurried in oblivious tide, Thy persecutors, and their schemes of pride, Thy name shall live—a pious race will come,
And bow with reverence o'er thy hallow'd tomb.

Here shall the future minstrel peans sing,
The hero bend,—the war-worn soldier cling;
And here the aged patriot tell his son,
The works of valor by his fathers done:—
"Behold, my boy, the last retreat Of all that once was good and great.
Here rest, beneath this humble stone,
The ashes of a man,
Whose life with brightest radiance shone,
With glorious deeds began.
His youth beheld the war-torch flame,
On Abraham's awful height;
There budded, bloom'd his early fame
In the iron field of fight:
For there he rush'd to victory,
With Wolfe to conquer, or to die.

"When freedom, bright as the morning star,
Had roam'd o'er eastern climes afar,
And, like the dove that left the ark,
Had seen the whole a waste,
A cheerless chaos, wild and dark, Nor found a place of rest;
She spread her wings upon the wind, Nor cast one anxious look behind,
But sought this blest, happier clime,
And rais'd her temple walls sublime;
Then far across the Atlantic wave,
The bellowing thunders roar'd;
She saw the tempest-demons rave,
On flaming wings that soar'd.
The wide world tipsoe stood to see The tottering fane of liberty.
So fearful were the bolts that rent
The pillars of the firmament, But a warlike form oppos'd the storm, Caroling fiercely to aw'ful fire, Firm as a rock, receiv'd its shock,
And warlike from the ark came blow!
The chief who stood so firmly there,
With his bosom bar'd, was the brave St. Clair.

"His were the soul and arm to wield The whirlwind of the battle-field;
When loudst rang the anvil's clangor,
And wildest pour'd the tide of war, Severely calm he stood,
And guided, with a steady hand,
The efforts of his patriot band,
The rushing of the flood.
And well he knew, what few can know, Compassion for a fallen foe.

"Fierce was the war the tyrant wog'd,
And long the doubtful conflict rag'd,
Which gilds thy country's glory;
But Clot's graphic page alone Can paint the various fields, where shone
The besuings of his glory.
And when the star of peace return'd,
To dry Columbia's tears,
The Chief, whose soul in battle burn'd, Was first among his peers,
To teach, hard task, of laws the way,
Where all are free, and all obey.

"Behold, my boy, yon mountain height, for there Lies'd unregard'd—the brave St. Clair!
By those neglected, whom his hand had led, Spurn'd by the country, for whose rights he led.

Without a crime condemn'd to misery's lot,
His wasted treasure and his toils forgot, Compell'd o'er penury's dimly fields to roam,
To beg a daily pittance and a home, (tears) Insulted for his wrongs—mid prayers and Our Beltharius pass'd the vale of years!"

'Tis done! the hero's toils are o'er,
The patriot's woes are past;
The man who felt, shall feel no more—He sweetly rests at last.
And to mark his sleep, that eye shall weep,
Which dewless saw his tear-drops flow;
And o'er his urn shall freedom mourn, While burns her sacred lamp below.
To him no rest on earth was given, (ven)
And he smil'd, and fled to his home in heav'n.

Oh happy change! who would not pass that bourne,
Where woe forgets to pierce, and grief,
Who still would live, when life no joy can bring.
When angels call, and Death has lost his How blest the meeting in those regions, where
No sorrow enters, for their God is there, Between the Good and Great, who side by side,
Have for their country fought and bled and What bliss, St. Clair, did through thy bosom run,
Again to meet thy friend—thy Washington!

Soul of the brave, farewell! Forgive the tear
A youthful stranger drops upon thy bier.
Thou too hast wept;—but now thy pangs are past.
Thine is the full, the rich reward at last.

COSMAS.
Loudoun Co. Va. Sept. 18.

Boston, September 19.

The United States sloop of War Hornet, Captain Read, is every day expected to arrive from Copenhagen, at this port. She is to be immediately refitted for sea—and will proceed to the South seas—She will join the Macedonian frigate at some Spanish port, probably at Buenos Ayres or point, upon the coast of South America, and pursue the ulterior object of the expedition.

Salem, September 17.

Arrived, brig Bolina, Pope, 24 days from Aux Cayes. August 27, off Cape Roco, was boarded by a boat, having 11 negroes on board, armed with muskets, cutlasses, and knives. They asked where the money was, and on being told there was none on board, they insisted that there was, and with violent threatening ordered capt. Pope, below, and set two armed men to guard him. They beat the mate and cook with their cutlasses, and threatened to kill them if they did not tell them where the money was. They threw the tea kettle of hot water at one man, and scalded and bruised his leg very bad.— They robbed us of two compasses, trumpet, hand saw, fore plain, coffee and teaspoons, plates, knives and forks, and a half barrel of beef. They took all my clothes of any value, watch, shoes, razors, &c.— They also took clothing, &c. from the mate and others.

Their principal object was money, and they promised to give up the clothes if I would tell them where it was, declaring they would stab me if I did not—they made several passes at me, but I defended myself until the one that appeared to be the captain took my part—he gave me a slight stab on my back when I was going up the steps. They then went on board the brig Connecticut, of Hartford, from the Spanish main for Charleston, & robbed him of his cabin furniture, watch, compasses, &c.—they also took some money and clothing, and beat the people.

LIST OF ACCIDENTS.

On the 4th inst. while an Artillery company at Prescott, Upper Canada, was firing a salute in honor of the arrival of the Duke of Richmond, one of the artillerymen was unfortunately killed. He was driving home the charge when it exploded, and literally tore him in pieces.

On the 1st inst. a citizen of Kingston, by the name of Silas Man, in passing upon a plank from the steam boat Charlotte to the Dock, fell into the water and was drowned. He was taken from the water in less than an hour, and every effort was made, but without effect, to restore him to life.

On the 7th inst. while capt. Conger, of the schr George & Mary, was lying at Kingston, U. C. one of his crew, a Mr.

Cascadian of Kingston, and four strangers in a boat from Ireland, were passing from the vessel to the shore, the boat filled and sunk, and Mr. C. and the four strangers were drowned. Captain Conger and the men belonging to the vessel, being good swimmers, reached the shore in safety.

A Mr. Upson, a pedlar from Massachusetts, was lately drowned at the mouth of Black River.

The Cleveland (Ohio) Gazette mentions, that about the 27th ult. a man was killed in the town of Palmira, Portage Co. in that state, under the following circumstances:—The deceased was an old soldier during the late war, put up at the tavern of a Mr. Bulkley. He went up to bed about ten o'clock at night, and being somewhat intoxicated began to sing. The landlord, as appears from evidence before the inquest, went up stairs, and with a large wagon whip struck the deceased, who immediately sprung out of bed, and followed the landlord to the head of the stairs, and fell to the bottom. He died shortly after and was buried. But suspicion arising as to the manner of his death, the body was raised and an inquest held over it, who gave in their verdict th. he had died of wounds received in a quarrel, in the house of said Bulkley.

ASSASSIN.

A gang of assassins have been discovered in Louisiana, and a part of them arrested.
They acted as ferry-men on some river, and whenever they conceived a passenger to have money or any other valuable article about him, he was mis-directed into a by-road, murdered and robbed. One of the fellows caught, made a full confession of their horrid practices, by which it appears that the business has been practised with success for some time.

Charleston, Sept. 18.

By the arrival this morning of the brig Jov. Jones, capt. George, in 5 days from Havana, we have received our regular files of the "Noticioso," and "Diario del Gobierno," from the 1st to the 8th inst. The following is an extract of a letter from our correspondent, dated

Havana, Sept. 8.

"The sailing of the gov. Jones to-morrow, affords me an opportunity to forward you our latest papers—they are so barren of interest, that they will be scarcely acceptable, I fear.

Several American vessels have arrived here lately from the northern states, having had the longest passages we can recollect hearing of—from 30 to 50 days.

"Our market for American produce is not such as to induce any shipments at this season; our stock of molasses entirely exhausted—in consequence, brown sugar are sought for, and are advancing fast, they will, no doubt, be up to 90 cents. in a very few days. The following are the current prices of to-day. Assorted sugars, 8 a 10 to 9 a 11 dollars p. gg—whites alone, 11 a 12 dollars—browns, (box) 7 1-2 a 8—muscovado, 8 a 8 1/2; coffee from 19 to 26. I have given you quotations of foreign produce below.

"The U. S. schr Firebrand, capt. Thos.
Cunningham, ar. here yesterday, from N.
Orleans, via Pensacola, all well. We are informed he brings despatches for the capt.
General, relative to some American prisoners, which perhaps you are better acquainted with than we are—he had an interview with the governor this morning and will probably sail from here to-morrow or next day; he is dated the city on his arrival, and the Admiral the next morning—the double salute might have been avoided had he saluted the Admiral first, which is practised by other vessels of war entering this port, by heaving too the main-top-sail, or some ceremony of other before the sails are hoisted.

"The brig Charles, Capt. Foot, from Bath, District of Maine, last from New-Orleans, with lumber, 75 days; arrived on the 5th, the brig Mary & Jane, Capt. , 37 days from Boston; arrived this day, the brig (Mechanic, supposed) at the Moro, arrived this evening from Portland, 24 days.

NAPOLEON THE YOUNGER.

On Tuesday last we re-published from a London paper, an account of an attempt to assassinate the son of Napoleon and Maria Louisa, in the palace of his grandfather, the Emperor of Austria. We have since learned from an officer, late in the service of the King of the Netherlands, and recently arrived in the United States, that the attempt, before alluded to, was not the first which had been made to put to death Napoleon the younger.

The following particulars of a former attempt are given to us as authentic. It will be recollected that in 1814, M. Maubrieulle, was brought to trial at Paris upon a charge of having stolen diamonds and other precious stones to a very large amount from the Queen of Westphalia. On his trial he acknowledged to have stolen the Jewels, but averred that he was in the employ of the Duke of Berri, to whom he said that he had sent the Jewellery. He further stated that he had been by the Duke, engaged to assassinate Napoleon Bonaparte on his way to Elba; which engagement, from some unexpected circumstances and feelings, he did not fulfil. The Duke of Berri thought it beneath the dignity of a prince of the blood of the house of Bourbon, to deny the villa-nous accusations thus brought against him by Maubrieulle, and Maubrieulle was convicted of having stolen the Jewellery, and sentenced to perpetual imprisonment. He was shifted from prison to prison by order of the French Government, until he was confined in a jail on the Netherlands frontier, whence he escaped early in the last spring.

Whether still in the same employment or not, certain it is that pretty nearly the same thoughts occupied his mind, and he went to Vienna. When there, he found that young Napoleon was at the palace of Schoenbrunn near the city. Maubrieulle immediately changed his residence for the more immediate vicinity of Schoenbrunn, where he attached himself to the clergyman of the parish, who was one of the tutors of the young prince. By this clergyman, Maubrieulle was frequently introduced into the gardens, &c. of the palace, but had never the fortune to ascertain the person of young Napoleon.

The last visit made by the priest and Maubrieulle to the gardens, he saw a smart well dressed boy walking in the shrubbery.
He was instantly impressed with the belief that this boy was the son of Bonaparte, and his destined victim. He watched him vigilantly until he saw him nearly enveloped in a clump of young trees; he then sprang towards him, and at the instant drew a dagger; the boy hearing a noise, turned round, and seeing Maubrieulle with the dagger in his hand, within a few paces of him, he said at once, "you want young Napoleon, I am one of his playmates; there he is," pointing towards a boy about his own age, who was short distance from them. Maubrieulle was now as certain of his victim as if his dagger had been already bathed in his heart's blood. He lost not a moment, but crouching and stealing forward until he came within striking distance, when he plunged his dagger into the playful boy, who fell lifeless at his feet.

While this tragedy was performing, Napoleon the younger—for he it was whom he left in the clump of trees, and whose presence of mind had turned aside the dagger of the assassin—precipitately, and by the nearest route, went to the guard and gave the alarm. Precautions were instantly taken, every avenue was guarded, the garden was searched, Maubrieulle, the priest, and a stranger, were found and arrested. In a few hours they were all tried and put to death. It is said the confessions of Maubrieulle and the stranger, containing very important matter, were sent by the court of Vienna to all the principal courts in Europe.

LETTERS FROM ASIA.

Extract from a series of letters, written by an American gentleman while in Asia, to his friend in Boston. The writer, unfortunately died by the plague, on his passage from Alexandria, in Egypt, to Constantinople, in a Grecian vessel.

(Boston Patriot.)

[No. 17.]

I have just returned from the ancient city of Ephesus, and although the journey has been extremely fatiguing, the pleasure derived by wandering among the ruins, far more than compensates for the trouble.

We started with an Armenian servant, a Turkish guide, and a Janissary; the latter, merely to give our retinue a respectable appearance in the eyes of the peasants.

The first part of the route led through the Turkish burying grounds, over a desert country, but it soon changed to valleys highly cultivated with corn and tobacco, shaded by fig and olive trees.

As there are no public houses on the roads in Turkey, the government have established Cafes, which are little more than sheds, one side open by way of door, covered by a thatched roof, before which are kept small fires, purposely to light pipes and make coffee for those who require it. We stopped occasionally at these places to rest our horses, making some small present to the occupiers for their kindness towards us.

About sunset our guide quickened his pace, and when objects began to fade from our view, he spurred his horse, setting him on a full gallop, the Janissary bringing up the rear, and applying a whip to those horses that seemed inclined to fall back.
Thus we continued, at one moment passing over low ground covered with bushes and bogs, and the next racing over broken rocks, at the great risk of our limbs—our servants chanting a kind of hymn, for the purpose, as I afterwards learned, of keeping off the devil, or any other evil spirit that might be hovering around us at the silent hour of night.

It had been dark some time when we arrived at the Cafne, where we were to remain for the night. A large fire was blazing, around which were several Turks, who appeared anxious to render our situation as comfortable as the place would admit. They offered us part of the food they were eating, which we accepted, and in return they partook of ours.

After the horses had been put in their stable, the guide spread a few mats in our room, so full of fleas, however, that we were obliged to dispense with them and lie on the bare ground, but as the mosquitoes would not suffer us to sleep, we had an opportunity of observing the heavenly bodies through the roof of the building, while listening to the howling of jackals and other wild animals, with which this country is infested.

At sunrise we continued our journey parallel with a ridge of high mountains, covered to the very summit with trees, through a valley in as high state of cultivation as any I have ever seen in Europe or America. Instead of dead scare-crows in the field, we observed five negroes, mounted on small scabbies, whose business was to snap whips, and heave stones from slings at the birds when they made there appearance.

We passed over the ruins of Metropolis, a place that many travellers have sought for in vain, but on which, by pure accident, our guide stumbled. The remains of the aqueduct extending some miles, broken columns and capitals strewn over the ground, with part of the Acropolis, satisfied us that it could be no other city, particularly when reference was had to the ancient maps of the country.

To Millers.

I WILL sell or lease my Mill-race and Mill-seat, situate in Prince George's county, Maryland, about 23 miles from the Alexandria ferry. Said mill-race extends 4 of a mile through a neighboring plantation, where I have the right of taking the water at any convenient place, and 24 feet breadth of ground in fee simple.—It was dug several years ago, and is now in want of repair in some places—but little expense will suffice to put it in order.—There is from the head-water to the tail-race 173 feet fall; and an eligible acite for a mill in the neighborhood of a sufficiency of timber to erect it.—To a person who would build a good mill on it, and oblige himself to keep it in complete order for a certain number of years, I should feel inclined to give the said property for that many years without ground rent: then to revert to me at a fair valuation of the improvements.

part of the farm on which I live.—On rooms on a floor, a meat house, with several other small buildings, an excellent apple orchard, peaches, pears, quinces, dam-

August 24

Lexington at Public Sale.
On THURSDAY, October 15, if fair, if not, the next fair day, will be offered at public sale, on the premises, Lexington.

THIS estate, containing two thousand three hundred and fifty acres, more or less, being one half of the well known tract of land commonly called "Mason's Neck," situated on the Potomac, in the county of Fairfax, Virginia, is now offered for sale.
About two-thirds of it is covered with an uncommon heavy growth of white and black oak, hickory, pine, poplar, &c. near the water's edge, whence it may be transported to the markets of the district of Columbia, (a distance of 20 miles only) where timber and fuel are always in demand, and without the expense and risk encountered in conveying those articles from situations further down the river; the remainder is in cultivation, and furnished with every necessary building for that purpose, together with orchards and a blacksmith's shop. The improvements are a spacious and elegant dwelling-house, kitchen, barn, dairy, smoke-house, office, icehouse, a well of excellent water, and a falling garden, of the most tasteful and costly design, filled with the rarest and most beautiful shrubberies and flowers, exotic and indigenous, all situated on an embance, commanding a view of the rest of the tract, which extends in an uninterrupted plain from the foot of the embance to the Potomac and Occoquan, by which it is so far bounded as to render the expense of enclosing it comparatively nothing. The prospect, moreover, of the surrounding country, diversified in every direction by sheets of water, is really beautiful beyond description. There are likewise attached to this estate four valuable

Shad & Herring Fisheries: however, the subscriber intends to reserve one of them and a few acres of land. The woods abound with deer, in such numbers, that with a little care a gentleman might command a constant supply of venison for his table; and besides the large streams assented, the various creeks and inlets that every where intersect the land are covered in the proper season with wild fowl of every description known in our waters.
When to all these advantages is added the great natural fertility of the land, which is not exceeded perhaps in the western country, its adaptation to improvement by the use of plaster, which has been proved by experiment, its vicinity to society, to market, to a manufacturing grist-mill, to which the distance of conveyance by land and water is not more than 5 or 6 miles, it may with truth be pronounced the most valuable estate, of the same extent, in the whole range of country watered by the Potomac.
It will be sold entire or divided to suit purchasers.

The terms of sale will be one-third of the purchase money in hand, the remaining 2-3ds in two equal annual payments, with interest from the day of sale, secured by a deed of trust on the land—which will be shown in my absence to any person disposed to purchase, by Mr. William Allison or Mr. Weston, residing on the premises.

Land for Sale.
THE subscriber offers for sale a tract of 80 acres of land, on the Colchester road, five miles from Alexandria, adjoining the lands of Haywood Foote and Dennis Johnston. The greater part of this tract is fine meadow land abundantly supplied with water. Also one other tract of 261 acres, on the Ravensworth road, about 6 miles from Alexandria, and one mile from the first mentioned tract, adjoining land of Thos. Janney and Ma-McPherson; the greater part of this tract is in wood, the soil good and highly suceptible of improvement from the use of plaster. If these lands are not sold before the first of January next, they will then be for rent.

Gunston for Sale.
THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria —it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plastering with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity.
A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 100 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, stock, western lands, or lands near the River, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

months past at Fort Washington, and—He says he was born in the state of New-York; is about 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, and has sandy hair; he had with him an apprentice boy, nearly grown. A few days previous to his leaving Fort Washington he took the liberty of borrowing, in the name of Mr. John Cohen, from a lady at that place 15 dollars, which was not known till after he left it; and immediately after he was discharged and paid off, he forged two checks in the name of the Subscriber, of which he procured the money for at the stopped so near the theatre of his villany.

BILL IN CHANCERY.
Robert Perry versus James B. Dunnington, Robert Dunning-ton, Francis Taylor and Elizabeth B. his wife, James Bloxham and Catharine his wife, William Simmons and Esther his wife, heirs of William Dunnington.

THE Complainant alleged in his bill that the Respondents have in possession the real estate of their deceased father Wm. Dunnington, whose personal estate was not sufficient for the payment of his debts. Wm. Dunnington's estate is indebted to the complainant in a large sum of money. The object of the bill is to procure a decree for the sale of the land, for the payment of the debts remaining unpaid by the personal estate.
Some of the heirs of Wm. Dunnington are non-residents.—It is thereupon, at motion of the Complainant, ordered that he cause a copy of this order to be inserted in the Alexandria Gazette for the space of three months, to the intent that the absent defendants may have notice of this application, and of the subject and object of the bill, and may be warned to appear in this court in person or by a solicitor, to shew cause, if any there be, wherefore a decree should not pass as prayed. Tests.

PROPOSALS.
By Gideon Fairman, John Binns and Charles S. Parker,
TO PUBLISH
A Splendid Edition of Washington's Farewell Address.
To the People of the United States.
THE world has seen enough of warriors and of Heroes—enough of Statesmen—of men who have guided Armies in the field, or dictated as Sages in the Cabinet, for the exclusive purpose of Ambition. History from its earliest page to the present day, has offered to our contemplation, only ONE WASHINGTON, but ONE MAX, whose dangers in war, and labors in peace, were undertaken and supported with a single eye, to the benefit of his country; whose wonderful and honorable success, was the plain result of wisdom in design, and valour in execution; whom danger never appalled, nor defeat depressed; who, persevering in the justice of his cause, wooded Victory till he won her: who covetted no reward but the well earned approbation of those whose interest he lived to promote: who renounced all public honors, when they ceased to be the necessary instruments of good to the people, whose gratitude conferred them: who superior to all Monarchs, was content to be called the American Citizen. His career of glory through life was unstained by crime; and his death was felt as a loss by every individual of that community, whose political existence was the fruit of his exertions.

THE FAREWELL ADDRESS of General Washington is the condensed result of long experienced, matured reflection and strong anxiety for the permanent prosperity of his country. His advice concerning the great importance of maintaining indissolubly the federal Union: the danger of indulging too much in party feelings:— the necessity of supporting public credit at home:—of maintaining public faith in all our transactions with foreign nations: of encouraging foreign intercourse free from foreign attachments:—are so many lessons of prudence which we should do well to hear in constant remembrance. Why therefore should not his legacy of wisdom and affection, be so published, as to admit of being constantly before our eyes? An ornament to our apartments, while it serves as a memento to guide our public feelings, and to manifest that the author lives in our memories?

To make it such, is the aim of the proposed Edition.
The Publishers are determined that the Address shall be printed on paper of the same quality and size as the splendid edition of the Declaration of Independence now engraving, & shall in all respects be a companion worthy that great State paper.

As errors are known from various causes to find their way into the most important writings, the publishers feel it their duty, not only to satisfy themselves, but to satisfy the public, of the authenticity of the copy from which this splendid Edition of the Farewell Address shall be published.
MR. GEORGE BRIDGPORT will complete the Design; of which the following is an outline:—The introductory part of the Address, in highly finished ornamental penmanship, shall form the upper part;—the other parts of the plate, shall be appropriate ornaments;—In the centre below shall be engraved, from an historical design for this publication by Mr. Sully the Surrender of the British Army at York-town, October 19, 1781.

The Address itself shall be printed with type of a peculiar and appropriate character, designed for this purpose by Mr. Fairman, and to be cut and cast by our best artists. No more of the type shall be cast than will be necessary to execute this Address: & when it shall be completed, the type and the matrices in which it was cast shall be utterly destroyed; so that no other work shall ever be executed by the same letter which shall have printed the "FAREWELL ADDRESS" of him who lived and died, first in War; first in Peace, and first in the hearts of his Countrymen.

The paper, of the first quality, 36 by 26 inches, will be made by Mr.
Amies. The text shall be carefully prepared, and of the best materials.
The signature of General Washington from which it is proposed to execute a fac simile for this publication, is that which he affixed to the Constitution of the United States, when he signed it as President of the Convention in which it was framed; Thus associating and concentrating some of the greatest events in the life of this great man and in the history of his Country.

The ornamental writing will be designed and executed in the very best manner; the ornamental parts of the design and vignette, will be engraved by G. FAIRMAN: and the Typographical part executed by John Binns.
They will take especial care of the execution of their several duties in this respect, and they will call to their aid, all that liberality, zeal and industry can command from the Sciences and Arts; as to make the "Farewell Address" no mean specimen of the state of the Fine Arts in the United States.

As much progress has already been made in designing and procuring materials for this splendid edition of Gen. Washington's "Farewell Address," it is expected it will be ready for delivery, with the Splendid Edition of the Declaration of Independence, in the month of December next.
That the public may have a more perfect view of the design and style of execution, than can be given in a proposal, of him who was "a Conqueror for the Freedom of his Country! A Magistrate for its Happiness," it is not intended to solicit any Subscriptions until the Ornamental parts of the plate shall be executed. It will then be submitted for public inspection and public patronage, at five dollars a Copy, payable on the delivery of the Engraving. Philadelphia, July 31.
